

Financial Industry Forum at Springfield Technical Community College

SPRINGFIELD – Training and Workforce Options, a Holyoke Community College and Springfield Technical Community College partnership, will host an employer engagement forum focused on the financial services industry on Thursday, May 3.

The Financial Industry Forum 2018 will be held 8 a.m.-10 a.m. at STCC's Scibelli Hall, Rooms 701/702.

The forum will provide financial professionals information on workforce development training opportunities and related services offered by experienced trainers from HCC and STCC.

TWO representatives also will discuss how regional businesses can secure Massachusetts Workforce Training Fund Grants to enhance training efforts for their workers.

The forum is geared toward financial professionals and their businesses, with the goal of gathering input about workforce development needs.

The information you share will allow the TWO team to custom-design affordable programs that fit industry needs and make measurable differences to your company's bottom line.

The Financial Industry Forum is free, and refreshments will be provided. Deadline to register is April 27.

For more information, please contact Tracye Whitfield at (413) 221-4443 or by email: tlwhitfield@stcc.edu. To register, please visit www.eventbrite.com and search "STCC."

Training and Workforce Options (TWO) is a formal workforce development collaborative of Springfield Technical and Holyoke Community College designed to optimize employer access to high quality training and education at affordable rates. TWO offers customized employee training, organizational planning, workforce needs assessments and assistance with Workforce Training Fund applications.

Between the two colleges there are dozens of training disciplines offered that complement and strengthen one another. TWO is capable of designing and customizing any curriculum to meet employer needs, and will train on-site or at either of the colleges.
