Summer/Fall 2020 LC Offerings Informational/Advising Sheet

Summer 2020

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Num/Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Instructors &amp; Courses</th>
<th>Who should take this LC?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| LC 101.01: "...And Justice for All?": Civil Rights, Civil Liberties, and the Supreme Court | Online | Henry: HIS 150
Henry: POL 140 | * first-year students
* transfer students * need/want confidence building
* need/want help with reading and writing
* students in Liberal Arts, Criminal Justice, and Legal Studies |
| 6 credits | | | |

* LC 101.01: "...And Justice for All?": Civil Rights, Civil Liberties, and the Supreme Court

HIS 150.70 Topics in History, CRN: 20221
POL 140.70 Civil Liberties, CRN: 20223

Our LC examines the history of the Supreme Court and Civil Rights and Civil Liberties in the US. Underlying the LC is an appreciation that the Supreme Court and its most seminal, and often controversial, cases have both shaped by and reflected the complexities of the nation and its people at vital moments. Students will learn about developments in legal theory and of the Constitution as well as the changing definition of citizenry, civil rights, and privacy within the context of US social, political, and judicial history. Among the cases to be examined are: Dred Scott v. Sandford; Plessy v. Ferguson; Korematsu v. United States; Brown v. Board of Education; Miranda v. Arizona; Loving v. Virginia; Roe v. Wade; Texas v. Johnson; and Obergefell et al v. Hodges, Director, Ohio Department of Health, et al.

Prerequisites: NONE

Fall 2020

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Num/Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Instructors &amp; Courses</th>
<th>Who should take this LC?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| LC 101.01: Shark Tank: The Art of Selling | MWF 9-10:50 | Cochran: COM 150
Karol: MKT 240 | * second-year and second semester students * need/want confidence
* need/want skill building in research and presentation skills
* need Gen Eds |
| 6 credits | | | |

* LC 101.01: Shark Tank: The Art of Selling

COM 150.01 Public Speaking CRN: 30324
MKT 240.01 Principles of Marketing, CRN: 30301

Are you ready to enter the Shark Tank? ABCs hit television show “Shark Tank” places business owners and entrepreneurs in the hot seat as they pitch their ideas to investors (the Sharks) In this course you will develop your public speaking skills and ability to influence the success in a business and organizational context. This course will guide you through the process by which organizations analyze, plan, implement and control communication and transactions with target consumers and investors. You will be introduced to all necessary elements of informative and persuasive speaking and will deliver speeches and conduct audience analysis as you work to adapt your rhetorical purpose. You will support organizational goals to attract, retain and grow customers by creating, delivering and communicating... superior customer value. Prerequisite: none

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Num/Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Instructors &amp; Courses</th>
<th>Who should take this LC?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| LC 102.01: Unruly Differences: Universal Design and the Disabled Identity        | MWF 9-10:50  | Giovannini: EDU 100
Gilleman: ENG 101                     | * Liberal Arts and undeclared students
* interest in social justice/equity issues
* interested in helping professions
* need/want help with writing skills |
|                                                                                 | 6 credits    |                                            |                                                             |

* LC 102.01: Unruly Differences: Universal Design and the Disabled Identity

ENG 101.08 Composition I CRN: 30092
EDU 100.01 Education in America CRN: 30873

What are the promises and challenges of universal access for students with exceptionalities in public education in the United States? How do the Individuals with Disabilities in Education (IDEA) and Americans with Disabilities (ADA) Acts impact and reveal assumptions about teaching and learning? In this course, we will explore issues of access, inclusion, special education, and universal design. A ten-hour field study in an educational setting is required.

Prerequisite: Eligibility for English 101

| LC 103.01: Teatro Nuestro: Performing Latinx Cultural Identity, Community, Aesthetic, Movement and “Conexión” | MW 12:30-3:15 | Gutierrez: LAX 110,
Sandoval: THE 100 | * need/want confidence buildings
* need/want attention to writing
* transfer students
* Liberal Arts
* first-year students |
|                                                                                       | 6 credits    |                                             |                                                             |

* LC 103.01: Teatro Nuestro: Performing Latinx Cultural Identity, Community, Aesthetic, Movement and “Conexión”

LAX 110.01 Intro to Latinx Studies, CRN: 31134
THE 100.02 Fundamentals of Acting, CRN: 31139

According to Stuart Hall, “[c]ultural identity... is a matter of becoming as well as being. It belongs to the future as much as to the past.” Latinx cultural and performative identity formation is “always in process” yet it has histories grounded in the past moving towards the future. Colonialism and resistance in the Americas informs Latinx contemporary artistic representations, social identities, cultural practices, structural inequalities and immigration patterns that connect the experience of the diverse Latinx populations. Theater has the potential of confronting and decentering this colonial logic and dominant racial and cultural hierarchies. Authors write and actors perform about the strains between the oppressors and the oppressed – destabilizing cultural oppression and reinterpreting the work of the oppressed, and providing a potential emancipation. We can think of cultural identity as a “production” which is never complete, always in process and always constituted within, not outside, representation. How do we perform cultural identity?

This course will engage in a critical examination of a wide selection of materials ranging from visual art, literature, film, and documentary to historical, cultural, political, economic, and sociological texts while participating in performative practices. This learning community will explore the problematic Latinx cultural experience in the United States from its indigenous and colonial roots through struggles of social movements for Pan-ethnic solidarity in the era of neoliberal globalization.
Prerequisite: Eligibility for English 101

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Num/Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Instructors &amp; Courses</th>
<th>Who should take this LC?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LC 104.01: Sustainable Development and Climate Reality</td>
<td>TR 8-12:15</td>
<td>Maioletesi: SUS 101, Liu: ENG 101</td>
<td>* need to complete Gen Eds &lt;br&gt; * first semester students &lt;br&gt; * Sustainability majors &lt;br&gt; * Liberal Arts students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7 credits</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LC 104.01: Sustainable Development and Climate Reality</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUS 101.01 Introduction to Sustainability, CRN: 30628</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUS 101.02 Lab, CRN: 30629</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENG 101.24 Composition I, CRN: 30249</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>As one community, the Earth’s inhabitants are faced with many critical problems in the 21st century—extinction, diminishing energy resources, increasing population, and human civilizations’ limited vision of alternatives. Whether Homo sapiens can learn to manage their lifestyles in a sustainable manner will impact the long-term survival of all the species on Earth. This is the concern that animates this Learning Community (LC). In the context of climate emergency and development need, its participants will explore through expository writing and class discussion the interconnectedness of all lives on Earth in issues particularly related to energy production, food supply, and consumption patterns. Prerequisite: Eligibility for English 101</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LC 105.01: Money Shot: Gender, Politics, and Economics in HBO’s “The Deuce”</td>
<td>TR 9:30-12:15</td>
<td>Orisich: ECN 105, Hendricks: WST 100</td>
<td>* need to complete Gen Eds &lt;br&gt; * any transfer student &lt;br&gt; * diversity requirement</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6 credits</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LC 105.01: Money Shot: Gender, Politics, and Economics in HBO’s “The Deuce”</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WST 100.01 Intro to Women’s Studies, CRN: 31057</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ECN 105.01 Intro to Political Economy, CRN: 30727</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“It’s now a multibillion dollar industry and it affects the way we sell everything from beer to cars to blue jeans. The vernacular of pornography is now embedded in our culture. Even if you’re not consuming pornography, you’re consuming its logic. Madison Avenue has seen to that.” – David Simon, creator of The Deuce</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Situated in 1970s NYC, The Deuce locates hustlers, pimps, sex workers, and cops in a Times Square filled with graffiti, trash, neon lights, rising crime and sex shops. This course uses the acclaimed HBO series as a semester-long case study to examine the dynamic relationship between capitalism and patriarchy. This includes an investigation of how the intersections of race, class, gender, politics, economics and culture impact women’s lives as well as a critical examination of relevant policy solutions. Note: this class contains mature content. Prerequisite: English 101 with a grade of C- or higher.
LC 106.01: Building a Healthier World: How Culture Affects Health Around the World
6 credits
Instructors & Courses: Lesley: ENG 101 Martinez: ANT 101
Who should take this LC?: * need to complete Gen Eds
* need/want attention to writing
* foundations of Health majors
* any transfer student

---

* LC 106.01: Building a Healthier World: How Culture Affects Health Around the World
ENG 101.35 Composition I, CRN: 30467
ANT 101.02 Cultural Anthropology, CRN: 30782
No matter what other differences people may have, we all get sick sometimes. Illness is one of those things humans have in common around the globe, right? Well, maybe not! Our beliefs, our habits, our built environments, and our governments help to shape which illnesses we get, how we experience our symptoms, and how we get better. In this learning community, we will look at illness and health through the study of culture(s). We will compare how people experience illness and health around the globe, investigating questions such as why wealthier nations are not always healthier, why people from different cultures develop different mental illnesses, and why living in cities with public transportation is good for everybody’s health (even for those who don’t use it). Students will also have an opportunity to ask and explore their own questions about health. Prerequisite: Eligibility for ENG 101

LC 107.01: Healing Our Community: ESL for Clinical and Non-Clinical Health Careers
6 credits
Instructors & Courses: Marcotte: ESL 152 Santaniello HTH 101
Who should take this LC?: * ESL students considering careers in a health related career
* students looking to gain confidence in writing, reading, grammar, speaking, and listening * previous ESL students or ESL students who have not self-identified

---

* LC 107.01: Healing Our Community: ESL for Clinical and Non-Clinical Health Careers
ESL 152.65 Topics in ESL, CRN: 31489
HTH 101.67 Intro to Health Careers, CRN: 31353
This course develops English proficiency through the content of foundations of health and the exploration of health career options at HCC and beyond. Students will participate in mindful discussions and activities that examine how these clinical and non-clinical health professions heal our community. They will be provided with opportunities to explore new fields of study while further developing their English speaking, listening, reading, writing, grammar, and critical thinking skills. The health and academic English content will also draw from sociology, psychology, and economics as related disciplines. Prerequisite: Eligibility for ESL 130
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Course Num/Title</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Instructors &amp; Courses</th>
<th>Who should take this LC?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| LC 200.01: Fight the Power!: The History and Stories of Worker Resistance in the U.S | TR 11-1:45 | Beers: HIS 250 Kennedy: ENG 230 | * good for transfer students, honors students and Liberal Arts majors
* attention to analytical thinking and writing
* interest in social justice issues |

* LC 200.01: Fight the Power!: The History and Stories of Worker Resistance in the U.S
HIS 250.01 Topics in History, CRN: 31058
ENG 230.01 Current Themes in Literature, CRN: 31059

Never forget, people DIED for the eight-hour workday. —Rebecca Gordon

Work is one experience that many of us share. An enduring belief in the United States is that if you work hard, you will achieve the so-called American Dream. For many, however, that belief is more myth than reality. This Learning Community honors the powerful stories and history of the struggle for worker justice. We will show how workers exposed this myth and confronted their exploitation, especially under industrial and post-industrial capitalism. In doing so, workers demanded that we make the ideal behind myth real for everyone. By exploring working class struggles from the 1800s to the present we will examine the major problems of labor and working-class history in the United States including struggles for economic security, workplace democracy, and grassroots efforts to organize, unionize, and fundamentally alter the workplace, American politics and economics. Moreover, we will expose how constructions of race, ethnicity, class, gender, sexuality, and citizenship contributed to moments of solidarity and/or fragmentation among working men and women in their jobs, unions, and communities, and how corporations and the government responded. Lastly, we will study how working-class activism shaped our culture through music, film, poems, and literature.
Prerequisites: Any HIS course, ENG 102 or permission of instructors

| LC 201.01: More Than Just Food: Justice and Sustainability | MW 12:30-4:30 | Hanover: PHI 230 Maiolatesi: SUS 216 | * SUS Majors, Liberal Arts * transfer students, honors students
* interest in social justice |

* LC 201.01: More Than Just Food: Justice and Sustainability
PHI 230.01 Topics in Philosophy, CRN: 31503
SUS 216.01 Sustainable Agriculture CRN: 31420
SUS 216.02 Lab CRN: 31421

This course will explore the history and politics of the production, distribution, and consumption of food as well as environmental justice movements in the U.S. and worldwide, which began, in part, as responses to the growing acknowledgement that marginalized communities bear a disproportionate burden to procure healthy food within existing food networks, and often suffer environmental harms due to exploitative productive practices. This course links food justice claims to the broader frameworks of social and environmental justice and ecological sustainability to study the relationship between people, land, agricultural resources, and power. Contemporary developments concerning food justice will be emphasized, especially as they apply to hunger, agricultural practices, and climate destabilization. We will look at case studies, examine regional and national food and ecological (in)justice issues as well as explore some prominent examples of activist strategies for a more just and sustainable food system in the future.
Prerequisite: Any 100 level PHI course or by instructors’ permission

Further questions? Feel free to contact Diane & Mary at:
Integrated Learning Programs Office, Frost 270
lcprograms@hcc.edu