

COPS, CRIME SCENES & CAREERS

Amherst College Police Officer Will Roberts talked to the students and answered questions.

STAFF PHOTOS / KARA WALSH

Hampshire County Sheriff Patrick Callihane spoke of the importance of education and getting a college degree.

Retired Granby Police Chief Louis Barry was the instructor of the criminal justice academy held at Holyoke Community College.

Teenagers who were interested in getting a better insight into the criminal justice field took part in a summer course called, "Cops, Crime Scenes and Careers: Criminal Justice Academy" held at Holyoke Community College last week. Retired Granby police chief Louis Barry instructed the weeklong summer camp.

Department of Justice ATF Federal Agent John Pijaca explains the equipment on this bomb truck which was a the finishline at the Boston Marathon.

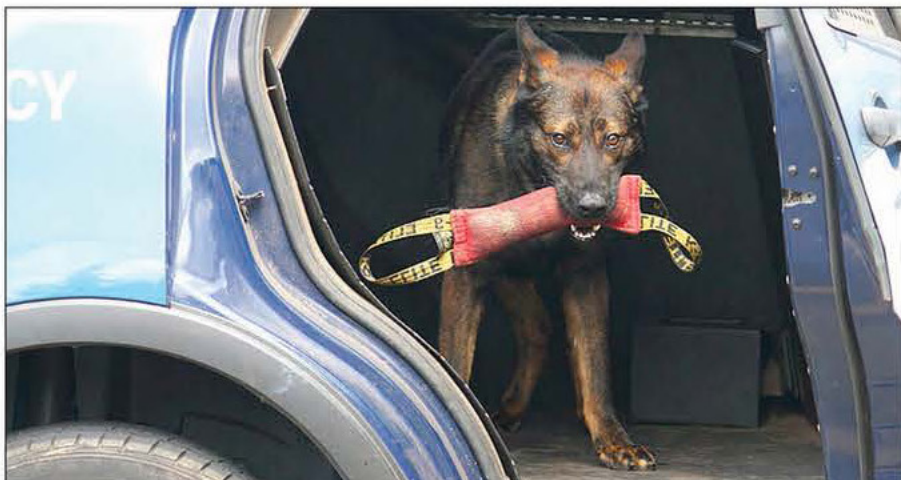

Kane is on the hunt for evidence.

Students watch Officer Romano and his K-9 partner Kane demonstrate some of their skills.

Chicopee Police Officer Ryan Romano and his K-9 partner Kane demonstrate some of their skills.

Kane waits for his call to service.